

I have had DSL service in the past from large corporate vendors; the service is much better from the smaller local vendors. It is critical that you do not deregulate broadband service. If you do, the regular American citizen will suffer greatly. Please do not respond to the greed of the large corporations - support the spirit of the small entrepreneur. Thank you, Matt Kramer